American Legion Ideals Discussed Before Kiwanians

With members of the Board of Education as their guests, Kiwanians met at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon to hear Robert Browning, county commander of the American Legion, discuss the machinery of the Legion, its ideals and its purposes, as a part of the Armistice Day program held yearly by the club.

Sam N. Mann, commander of Kingston Post, American Legion, was also a guest and appealed to the club members to support the Victory Ball at the Armory tonight, the proceeds of which will be used by the Legion to carry on welfare work during the coming year. Mr. Mann was a charter member of the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

Two quartets again competed and the group composed of Abram Jansen, Robert Service, Edward Bonsteel and Chester Miller, split first honors with that including Lucius Doty, Clarence Rowland, Judge Joseph M. Fowler and G. Wallace Codrington.

The following members of the Board of Education were present: Louis Beeres, A. M. Cragan, B. C. Vaningen, Charles Kats, Fred Walter, D. N. Mathews, H. R. LeFever, C. W. Kearney, and Kiwanian William B. Byrne.

One other guest was present at the meeting, W. J. Mandink of Hartford, Conn.

Paul Zacc, accompanied at the piano by Danny Bittner, was in charge of the singing, a number of patriotic and war time songs featuring the musical part of the program.

Election of officers was held, which will be found elsewhere in the columns of the paper.

It was announced that Walter Brown had been elected to membership in the club.

The club decided to endorse the membership drive of the Y. M. C. A. Commander Browning was introduced by Dr. Raymond S. Crispell, chairman of the program committee, who said that the speaker's war record indicated that he would be able to speak from his heart at this patriotic service.

History of Organizations

Commander Browning, in opening his address, explained that during the era of the Roman Empire a veterans' organization had been founded to care for the wounded, their wives and families. He traced the history of veterans' organizations through the period of Queen Elizabeth, the Revolutionary War, the Civil War, and finally the American Legion, founded to care for World War veterans.

"The American Legion," he continued, "consists of 10,000 posts with about 1,000,000 men. There is also the Legion Auxiliary composed of wives and daughters of Legionnaires." He explained that the Legion was divided into 55 departments, one for each state and territory of the United States, and divisions in foreign countries where there are a sufficient number of American veterans.

"The divisions are subdivided into counties, then posts, and every action of the American Legion must find its beginning in a post of the organization. There is no distinction in memberships as to service, soldiers, sailors and marines being accepted on a like basis," he explained.

Rehabilitation and the furthering of peace are the two main objectives of the Legion, the commander continued, saying that there were 50 national committees of the organization, which had charge of the work of that body. Some of the more important of the committees he mentioned as: Rehabilitation, Welfare, Child Welfare, Legislative, and Americanism. He explained that the American Legion lobby at Washington consisted of a single man, with several secretaries.

Secured 200,000 Jobs

The Legion has secured work for more than 200,000 veterans, has received cooperation from the business men of the country in many ways, especially where funds were needed to add some unfortunate veteran unable to meet life without outside aid.

Commander Browning closed with a survey of the work of Fidac, an inter-allied body of veterans numbering 15,000,000, which has as its first purpose the securing of a permanent peace among nations. He explained that the Kellogg peace pact was in many cases an adoption of the Fidac peace pact, passed in 1922.

The speaker closed asking that Kiwanians give their consideration to the Legion's efforts to further peace. President Bradford thanked the speaker, after which the meeting adjourned with a closing song.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP).—Treasury receipts for November 9 were $76,995,171.18; expenditures $85,263,742.55; balance $692,936,351.34. Customs duties for nine days of November were $8,129,196.44.

Though Great the Cost, Honor Came

This morning at 11 o'clock, just as the sun broke through the clouds, American Legion buglers stationed at various points in the city, blew "taps" in memory of departed comrades, who gave their greatest gift to living Americans. It was just 14 years ago today that the great war ended, a short time in the history of nations, but evidently much too long for many "red blooded" Americans.

In the Roundout section of the city, loyal patriots, comprising Jews, Italians, Syrians, Greeks, and a multitude of others whose birth did not take place upon this native soil, left their work and with heads bowed pledged anew a memory that peace had been secured though the cost was great.

In this same section most of the native born seemed "too busy" to pay respect to those who sacrificed life and limb that they might now enjoy freedom. In a downtown restaurant a "red blooded" American remarked "burry that coffee" to one who wished to honor the dead—another was too busy to stop his tasks, several relied upon inappropriate phrases, and few of these proud native born could spare a moment's tribute.

Those soldiers who died and are maligned can hardly be proud of these native Americans, but well they may be of those who seek the protection of our shores, those whose tribute wasn't expected to be as great—and those who put our "Americans" to shame.

Nations Announce They Cannot Pay

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP).—A note from Great Britain, presumably seeking an international debt discussion, Greece's failure to pay and Hungary's action she cannot meet her December installment, today renewed the war debt problem.

Coincident with a report from England that a note had been sent the United States, Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, conferred yesterday with Secretary Stimson. Shortly afterward Secretary Mills announced the action of Greece and Hungary.

Mills said the treasury failed to receive Greece's payment of $227,000 of principal and $217,320 of interest due yesterday. He added that Hungary had notified the government she "does not have the necessary foreign exchange with which to make the payment due the United States on December 15." This amounts to $12,312 of principal and $25,444 of interest.

Already, Estonia, Latvia and Poland, had given the formal 90-day notice allowed under the debt funding agreement that they could not make their December payments. The debt agreement, however, does not make interest payable.

PROTESTANT WOMEN MET

AT HOME OF MRS. MYTTON

The November meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Roundout Presbyterian Church was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Mytton. After a short business session and a Thanksgiving devotion period, the second chapter of the missionary study book, "Facing the Future in Indian Missions," was presented in a very interesting and instructive manner by Mrs. Mary Comstock and Mrs. George Simpkins. As the ladies of the art department of the annual fair had planned to have a pancake supper Tuesday evening, December 6, it was decided to hold the December meeting of the Missionary Society at the chapel instead of at the home of Mrs. Frederick Stephan as previously arranged. A social hour followed the program, during which the ladies were served tea by the hostess.

WILL NOT ANNOUNCE

APPOINTMENTS YET

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 11 (AP).—Preparing to lay aside his public duties for a few hours rest at home, Franklin D. Roosevelt had served notice today that not before early January will he begin gathering about him the men on whom he will rely, as President, to help administer the nation's affairs.

In a brief statement last night the President-elect said no decisions regarding any Federal appointments would be reached "for at least two months."

Sold Prize Winner

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 11 (AP).—Fascinated by the test tube at the age of seven, Dr. Irving Langmuir, associate director of the General Electric Research Laboratory, has followed a path which led from his boyhood laboratory in Brooklyn to the Nobel Prize in chemistry.

Ross McLean Will Complete Program For Victory Ball

Kingston Post, American Legion, intends making good tonight on its Armistice ball announcements even better than anticipated. The entertainment committee received word yesterday of an unexpected surprise—the unlooked for billing of Ross McLean on its program.

Patrons at the ball two years ago will well remember McLean. Unheralded at that time, he came to Kingston and proved one of the biggest hits of an unusually good bill. With a marvelous tenor voice, he sang "Old Man River" in a manner which few who heard him have forgotten.

Star of Scandals

Since then McLean has traveled far in the theatrical world. He is to begin the fall season Monday night at the star of George White's Scandals, and any entertainer who can reach that height must have the goods. He is also one of the featured performers over Station WABO.

McLean himself called up Meyer Kaplan, chairman of the entertainment committee, yesterday to state that he was coming along with Al Rogers, who has done the booking for the Legionnaires. "I haven't forgotten the Legion ball of two years ago and how well I was treated at that time," he told Kaplan, "so I'm coming up with Al whether you like it or not." That Kaplan and the other members of the entertainment committee "like it" doesn't need to be added.

McLean will provide the eighth act for the entertainment. The others are Winters and Moreno, in "Harlem Nights"; the Manhattan Savoyards; the Hart Sisters, stars of Anatole Friedland's Revue; Wyn Ralph, prima donna; Billy Glason, "Broadway's Favorite Entertainer"; Lewis and Weems in "Tripping Through Laugh Land"; and Chaney and Pax in "Steps and Missteps."

Local Orchestra

Harry Mahenholder and his Commanders will vie with John Erbe and his Imperials in furnishing the dance music, which means about four hours of dancing to music by two of Kingston's long established orchestras. The entertainment is scheduled to begin at 8:30 o'clock and will continue until about 9:45, with the dancing to start at 10.

The doors will open at 7:30. In the midst of the revelry the Legionnaires will not forget their departed comrades. At 11 p. m. the music and dancing will cease and Kingston Post will put on its special ceremony for those who have passed into the great beyond.

Eight acts of entertainment, music by two orchestras, attractive decorations—Kingston Post is all set for its annual event.

FIRST DUTCH LADIES

TO SERVE TURKEY DINNER

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Dutch Church will serve its annual turkey dinner on Wednesday, November 16, beginning at 5:30 o'clock. These women will serve turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, onions, celery, cranberries, cabbage salad, rolls, coffee, apple pie and ice cream. Mrs. O. D. B. Ingalls is the president and has appointed the following chairman of tables, who will serve:

Mrs. Homer J. Emerick, Mrs. G. Wallace Codrington, Mrs. Richard Tappan, Mrs. Elliott S. Davis, Mrs. Harry P. Carr, Mrs. Oscar Edwards, Miss Sarah Harbrowck, Miss Lillian Nelson, Mrs. C. S. Treadwell, Mrs. Ward B. Ingalls, Mrs. W. Dean Hays, Mrs. William A. Frey, Mrs. Charles McMillan, Mrs. B. H. Houghkling, Mrs. Howard R. St. John.

Miss Frances Overholt and Miss Mary Ingalls have charge of dipping room.

HOOVER PREPARES FOR

RETURN TO WASHINGTON

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 1 (AP).—Feeling a call of governmental affairs, President Hoover today cut short his vacation and prepared to leave his Palo Alto home tonight for a speedy 90-hour crossing of the continent by special train.

What accelerated the quick journey to Washington, Mr. Hoover's aides would not say, but international debt questions and the program he will place before Congress on December 3 are pending.

Walker Is Europe-Bound

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—James J. Walker, slipping away without fanfare, was Europe-bound today, and word came from sources close to him, that he would dwell in Paris indefinitely. As the liner Conte Grande sailed last night with the former mayor in seclusion in a strictly guarded stateroom, these sources said he would go first to India to be the guest of a maharajah whom he once entertained here. Then he was expected to take up residence in the French metropolis.

1,000 or More Dead And Vast Damages In Cuban Hurricane

Most of the dead were drowned in tidal wave that swept Caribbean Port—Areas of Cultivated Lands Levelled by Storm.

By J. P. MCKNIGHT

Associated Press Staff Correspondent Copyright, 1932 by The Associated Press

Camaguey, Cuba, Nov. 11 (AP).—A wide strip of central Cuba lay devastated today, the result of a tropical hurricane that also left an estimated 1,000 or more dead in its path.

Camaguey province, the richest sugar growing province of the nation, bore the brunt of the storm. Sugar mill men said they believed the cane crop was virtually destroyed.

Most of the dead were drowned in a tidal wave that swept the Caribbean port of Santa Cruz Del Sur. The hurricane whipped a wall of water 20 feet high through the town and hundreds of the 4,000 villagers were trapped in their homes.

Elsewhere through Camaguey and adjoining parts of Santa Clara and Oriente provinces, the winds damaged dozens of cities and towns and leveled vast areas of cultivated lands.

Estimates of the dead varied because it was impossible to communicate with many remote parts of the stricken provinces.

First definite news of the disastrous tidal wave was brought from Santa Cruz Del Sur by a train filled with injured villagers. After talking with them authorities here estimated the Santa Cruz dead at between 1,500 and 1,800.

Estimates of Dead Vary

The police department of Camaguey returned the Santa Cruz death list at 1,300; Mayor Humberto Rodriguez of Camaguey said he believed 1,500 had perished, and Manuel Dupuy Aguilera, a Santa Cruz survivor, thought 1,800 had been drowned.

On the basis of available reports from other parts of this province, it seemed that the deaths outside Santa Cruz were far short of 100. In Camaguey 17 were known to be dead and 75 injured.

Camaguey turned from her own destruction this afternoon, to give aid to the refugees from Santa Cruz. The few hospitals here already had been taxed by the local emergency.

Florida railway bossman, the Hotel Inglaterra, numerous homes of the wealthy, the Carmes convent, and empty buildings were prepared for emergency hospital work.

Three trains, each bearing scores of injured, had arrived by 2 a. m. today. Authorities were busy throughout the night sorting out the critically injured for hospitalization.

Throughout the night doctors were operating on the injured by candle light, the power plant here having been seriously crippled.

The last train this morning brought word that 260 bodies had been buried at Santa Cruz and that hundreds of other bodies were lodged in trees and debris. Sanitary conditions were said to be serious, and sanitary officials were ready to order cremation of the remains dead tomorrow.

Another nine car train bearing 450 more injured was due here later today.

The hurricane, which had been lashing its way around the Caribbean for a week, struck Santa Cruz early Wednesday morning. It cut a diagonal path northeastward through Cuba, and left the island from the neighborhood of Neivitas, on the northern coast. Today, slowed by its overland passage, the disturbance was going through the Bahamas.

The Associated Press correspondent flew here from Havana today. He observed banana plantations in Camaguey province leveled in geometric rows, palms stripped and torn, and some out of tea thatched farm huts damaged or destroyed.

$30,000,000 Bond Issue Will Allow Relief to March On

The $30,000,000 relief bond issue, approved by the voters, will allow the state temporary emergency relief administration to continue paying for 40 per cent of what the office and counties are spending for home and work relief, and to promote an expanded work relief system such as was in the state last winter. Harry L. Hopkins, chairman of the administration, announced today.

In anticipation of the funds to be made available after November 15, by the $30,000,000 relief bond issue, the state relief administration, disbursers of the state's relief funds, are making plans to re-organize the work relief system of the state. The state bond issue money will provide for both work relief funds for cities and counties and home relief funds. The study of the projects will be made both from point of view of technical efficiency and the number of jobs provided.

The administration today sent out a request to all cities and counties which receive a share of the state relief funds asking them to have their projects re-submitted and approved for meeting the great unemployment relief problem this winter. The approval of the $30,000,000 bond issue by the voters means that the administration may disburse $15,000,000 between November 15 and February 1, 1933, of which $12,000,000 is for reimbursement to cities and counties for 40 per cent of the costs of home and work relief given to the unemployed, and $3,000,000 for special projects on state improvements, direct grants to cities and counties which cannot finance even 60 per cent of their relief, and special sums to aid communities in meeting their problems.

Funds from the unemployment relief bond issue will allow the state to continue the home and work relief system which was in operation last winter and summer. At the present time through city, county and state funds this public relief system is currently carrying approximately 185,000 families. The affirmative vote of the people for the bond issue makes $15,000,000 available for use until next February 1. The other $15,000,000 can be made available later by the legislature.

DEMOCRATIC PROGRAM TO

TAKE FORM IN DECEMBER

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP).—Three months of legislative strife beginning in December is forecast for the current Congress before new Democratic hosts take over the seat.

Sure to be considered by the narrowly Democratic House and still Republican Senate are the annual appropriation bills, governmental economy and prohibition. Any or all of the measures, as was the case last session, may provoke prolonged struggles.

Adding doubtful qualities to the congressional prospect will be more than 100 "lame duck" members. These are senators and representatives who will not be members of the Seventy-third Congress because of Tuesday's Democratic landslide which on latest returns showed:

A House composed of 212 Democrats, 111 Republicans and four Farmer-Laborites (seven seats remained in doubt).

A Senate made up of 53 Democrats, 36 Republicans and one Farmer-Labor member.

But since the House is Democratic, it is virtually certain to lay ground-work for the program to be shoved through with full strength under Franklin D. Roosevelt. Ready at hand for the preliminary committee work will be reports of special investigators.

ASTROLOGER TOLD

OF HER OWN DEATH

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—Eveline Adams, 60, noted astrologer, is dead—and her followers are sorrowful, but very proud.

They say that Miss Adams, who went through a long life wrestling predictions and a fortune from the stars, was accurate to the end—that she predicted her own death.

George E. Jordan, Jr., her husband, whom she married after a horoscope romance, said after her death late yesterday that she had foreseen her fate.

MRS. FRANK FITTS INJURED

WHEN CAR BACKED INTO HER

Mrs. Frank Pitts of 156 Washington avenue, was injured about the ankle Thursday afternoon when struck by a car driven by Herman Rasmussen of 265 Broadway. The accident occurred at the intersection of Wall and Main streets as Mr. Rasmussen was backing his car, which had been parked at the curb. Dr. Frederick Forder attended Mrs. Pitts. Her injury is not considered serious.

Beer at This Session May Depend on Hoover

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP).—Though assured a vote majority in the new Congress, whether it measured their chances for beer at the December session of the old largely to the known opposition of Senator Borah still Idaho, and the unknown attitude of President Hoover.

Borah who was elected the prohibition party leadership last July made plain immediately upon his return to the capital that he would oppose vigorously both modification of the Volstead Act and repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

He forecast no change in prohibition at the "lame duck" session, a position contrary to that expressed by House and Senate Democrats and such a Republican regular as Senator Reed of Pennsylvania.

Dry, already organizing to stop any prohibition legislation, count Borah one of their staunchest supporters. Also a prominent part of the picture as they viewed it were President Hoover's campaign expressions on prohibition which did not include beer as did Franklin D. Roosevelt's.

Borah said that in a quarter of a century experience he has found no controversial question can be disposed of in a short session. Dry leaders felt this particularly true of Congress that is certain to become involved in the difficult task of slashing federal expenditures.

Grand Master of Masons Visits Here

Deliver Address to Large Assemblage Thursday Evening in Auditorium of St. James M. E. Church.

An assemblage of members of the Masonic fraternity that nearly filled the large auditorium of St. James M. E. Church Thursday evening had the unexpected pleasure and honor of a visit and address from the Grand Master of Masons of the state of New York, Christopher C. Mollenhauer.

The Grand Master devoted the opening portion of his talk to the manner in which the work of the order was being carried out in the lodges of the grand jurisdiction of New York and stated that he had found many lodges which were not operating according to the constitution and the ancient rules and usages of the order. He stressed particularly the tendency to violate the tenet of Masonry which forbids members to urge others to join the order and said that, while he hoped to see masonry grow in numbers and influence during his term in office, inviting people to join must stop.

"The man who doesn't live his masonry isn't a Mason," said the Grand Master. He declared that "Freemasonry is not a religion and was never intended to be; it is a moral philosophy and the handmaid of religion." He said in closing, "Your Grand Master firmly believes in masonry of the human heart."

The meeting was called to order by Leslie S. Lyons, Master of Kingston Lodge No. 10, who presented Raymond H. Osborn, D. G. M., of the first Columbia-Dutchess district, who presided during the evening. The program opened with the invocation by the Rev. John Neander of Ulster Lodge, singlet of America by all and a selection by the quartet from Kingston Lodge.

Following the address by the grand master Charles R. Vanhorman, representing the trustees of the Masonic Hall and Asylum Fund, spoke at some length. He recommended immediately the conduct of St. James M. E. Church and conditions there. Speaking of requirements for admission to the home he said that the two main ones were intelligence and worthiness. Funds for maintenance of the home had been sufficient, but loss of revenue from the Masonic Temple in New York during the depression was causing a problem that would have to be met. Four floors in the New York building had been vacated when the Erie Railroad transferred their offices to Cleveland, causing a loss of revenue in that one instance of $150,000 a year.

Musical numbers on the program in addition to those given by the Kingston lodge quartet, included a solo by Howard E. Muller of Gate Hill Lodge. The meeting was brought to a close with the benediction by the Rev. Frank B. Seelye of Kingston Lodge.

Part of the program of the evening was given in darkness, except for the light of two or three candles that were finally removed, after the electric lights had failed to function. The trouble was caused by the transformer supplying the church circuit going out of business. A crew from the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation ran a temporary line from another transformer and a new transformer is being installed today.

A Card Party

A public card party will be held by Kingston Council, 124, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, at the home of Mrs. Joseph Netherwood, Sr., 141 Elmendorf street, Monday evening.

Dismiss Action Brought Against Two Brickyards

Hutton and Terry Brothers Win Action in Supreme Court Brought by the Curtis Estate—Memorandum by Supreme Court Justice Foster.

The action in the supreme court by Mrs. John N. Curtis and family against the Hutton Company and the Terry Brothers company to acquire the defendant's interest in the Hutton brick yard and certain properties in the Dutchess section of the city and to prevent defendants from using premises for purposes other than residential has been dismissed. Harry H. Fittingham appeared for the plaintiffs.

Following is the memorandum by Supreme Court Justice Sydney F. Foster:

Memorandum

Foster, J.

This is an action in which the plaintiffs seek to enjoin the defendants from removing sand and clay from certain properties situated in the city of Kingston, N. Y., and to prevent the defendants from using such premises for purposes other than residential. Injunctive relief is sought upon the theory and claim that such use is in violation of two zoning ordinances of the city of Kingston, enacted respectively, on February 3, 1925 and August 5, 1925.

Plaintiffs are the owners of an estate within the limits of the city, about six acres in extent, upon which are situated a main residence building, a four car garage and a chauffeur's cottage. The residence building is a brick structure of imposing proportions, and although built in 1873 by an ancestor of some of the plaintiffs, contains all modern improvements. The surrounding grounds are spacious, attractively shrubbed and decorated, and kept in excellent condition. From the premises, views, more or less extensive, may be had of the Hudson River. It is, beyond question, a property both unique and valuable, and there is no residential property in the immediate neighborhood comparable to it in extent or value.

The premises of the defendant Hutton Company are immediately to the north of the plaintiffs' property and extend from the Hudson River west to the street or road called Locust avenue. The premises of the defendant Terry Brothers Company are immediately north of the Hutton property and also extend in part from the Hudson River west to Locust avenue. Prior to 1915 the property of the defendants were bounded on the west by the Cantine Patent Line, which is some distance east of their present westerly boundary. The lands of the defendants between Cantine Patent Line and the Hudson River are not involved in this controversy.

The land west of the Cantine Patent Line was formerly owned by the Newark Lime and Cement Company. On May 6, 1915, the Terry Brothers Company purchased sixteen acres of this tract, and the remaining part, which was immediately adjacent to the Hutton property on the east and the plaintiffs' property to the south, and which comprised something over fifteen acres, was purchased by the Hutton Company on October 1, 1922. It is as to these parcels purchased from the Newark Lime & Cement Company that the plaintiffs seek to enjoin the defendants from further excavations. The defendant companies, and their predecessors, have been engaged in the manufacture of brick for many years. The original Hutton property was devoted to that use as far back as 1855 and even prior thereto. It may also be observed in connection with this use that John N. Curtis, owner of the plaintiffs' property at the time the residence was erected thereon in 1873, was connected with the operation of the Hutton brick yard and his interest therein continued over a period of twenty years. During the years of their operation in the manufacture of brick the defendant companies have used clay and sand, which is particularly suitable for such purpose, from their lands immediately west of their plants on the river front. In the course of time their excavations deepened westward until now they have reached approximately the Cantine Patent Line, formerly the westerly boundary of their properties. To continue they were cut into the lands purchased by them from the Newark Lime & Cement Company and this will bring them into conflict with the zoning regulations of the city of Kingston.

The first zoning ordinance upon which the plaintiffs rely was adopted on February 3, 1925, and took effect upon the filing of proof of publication on April 10, 1925. Briefly, the ordinance divided the city into residential, business and manufacturing districts, and specified the particular uses to which the property in each district might be devoted. To identify these districts a zoning map was adopted on which it was attempted to mark out the boundaries of the various districts by colored

Farm Bureau Dairy Program Planned

At a meeting of the Farm Bureau Dairy Committee on Wednesday, a program for the coming year was developed and C. L. Allen of Kingston, R. D. No. 3, was chosen as chairman of the county dairy committee. The community dairy project leaders in attendance were: John Schoonmaker of Accord; Harry Wells, Sangerites; H. D. Borcherting, Gardiner; John H. Beatty, Kingston; Benjamin E. Davis, Kerbonkton; L. B. Davis, Olive Bridge; Jesse Duro, New Paltz and C. L. Allen of the Stone Ridge community. Others present were Dr. M. O. Bond and Prof. S. J. Brownell of Cornell; Sidney Levine, Ellenville and Albert Kurdt, manager of the Farm Bureau.

Prof. Brownell spoke briefly on the dairy industry of Ulster county. He referred to the committee present as the board of directors of a $4,000,000 business, this being the value of dairy products plus the investment in dairy cattle. He pointed out that dairymen are divided into two phases of feeding, housing and management, disease, control, selection, culling and breeding. All five branches should receive equal attention.

Dr. Bond spoke on the need for further information in regard to the marketing problem. He pointed out that the per capita consumption of milk in the metropolitan area dropped from 8 of a pint to about 7 of a pint. In addition there is a slight overproduction. He also spoke on the dairy and milk price cycles. The meeting was opened for discussion of a possible dairy program. As a result it was decided to encourage more dairymen to keep milk records thus enabling them to feed and cull to advantage. It was decided to set ten as the number of proved sires to work for and to form one bull association.

It was planned to put on the "Better Sire Campaign" in five townships of the county. This will consist of surveys, publicity and a series of lectures. The object of this drive is first to get dairymen to keep bulls longer, until their transmitting ability is known, second, to house bulls in such a way that it is safe to keep them longer and third, to replace inferior bulls with better bulls.

Another project will be a county-wide meeting of all dairy committeemen on marketing, followed by a series of local meetings. A sub-committee consisting of John Schoonmaker, Harry Beatty and C. L. Allen was chosen to draw up detailed plans of the program. A motion was unanimously passed that the committee be in favor of the recent state ruling prohibiting the importation of cattle from herds infected with the bang abortion disease.

LEBRON SETS NEW FASHION IN OFFICIAL FARM DRESS

Paris (AP)—President Lebron has wrought a sartorial revolution in this center of fashions.

He firmly declined to appear at morning and afternoon functions in full evening dress, with the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor across his hand-buffed shirt front.

Previous presidents have always declined that costume essential on official occasions and foreign envoys and cabinet ministers have had to put on "tails" also.

Lebron has gone back to the "Prince Albert" of late Victorian times. He wanted to adopt the cut-away, but Bore de Fougieres, his "director of the protocol," or arbiter of manners, deemed that just a shade too dapper and modern.

TURKEY PLACES COFFEE ON STRICT BARTER BASIS

Istanbul (AP)—Millions of Turks got a bad shock when, sipping their traditional cups of black syrupy coffee, they read in the papers: "Millions of lira for coffee but not one cent in cash."

The new minister of economy, Djelal Bey, announced that unless coffee exporting nations—chiefly Brazil—buy Turkish eggs, olives and rugs, the 13,500,000 Turks (seven babies drink it) will have to find a new national beverage.

"I will not allow one centime to be sent out of this country in payment for coffee," Djelal Bey said.

Even NOW you can plan for GAS HEATING for this season

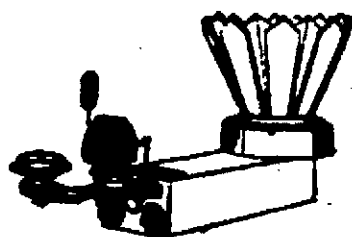

You know, of course, that gas for heating the home offers the most completely automatic heating service that can be had. But perhaps you have questioned its use in your own home, at least for this season. Here are the facts.

Even though you have begun heating, it is still entirely practical for you to begin using gas. So simple is the equipment needed to use gas in your present furnace, that installation can be made in half a day. If your bins are full, arrangements can be made to take the fuel out without loss to you.

Try it for an entire season without obligation to buy. The cost for gas for the first season is guaranteed in advance. If for any reason at all you decide in spring not to continue heating with gas, the equipment will be removed without question. Or you may, if you prefer, budget the cost of gas heating along with other important home services on unusually liberal terms.

Gas heating costs are lower. Another reduction in the cost of heating homes with gas becomes effective on December 1. Whatever the ups and downs of cost for other fuels, the trend of the cost for gas has been definitely downward. You may find out in reasonable detail just what these costs will be for heating your own home, after a heating survey, which is made without obligation. Consult your own plumbing and heating contractor, or call our local office to request a survey.

The simple equipment shown above is all you need to use your own furnace or boiler for gas heating. Only pipe connections are added. No further space is needed inside or outside the house, since there is no fuel to store.

Red Cross to Enlist Great Army of Members to Fight Distress

Last year 4,000,000 men and women joined the American Red Cross as members during the annual roll call, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day. A peace-time army even greater than this will be needed in 1932-33 to support and carry on the nationwide relief work of the Red Cross. There are 1,623 Red Cross Chapters and they have 10,000 branches.

MILLIONS IN ARMS OBJECT OF DRIVE BY SOVIET UNIONS.

Moscow (A.P.).—Under the slogan "let each shocker worker know how to handle a gun," a campaign has been started to enlist the 17,000,000 members of the trades unions in "Osoaviakhim," the reserve of the Red Army.

The organization, the name of which is a contraction of Russian words meaning "society of the friends of aviation and chemical defense," is a civil branch which sponsors training in all phases of military activity.

The anti-war congress in Amsterdam showed the hostile attitude of the entire capitalist world toward the Soviet Union," said the newspaper "Trud" (Labor).

"These circumstances compel all union members to strengthen the defense of the socialist fatherland. Each militarized city, factory, collective and state farm must remind our enemies of the strength of the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Notwithstanding this brilliant statement, the soviet government is less fearful of an armed attack on the U. S. S. R. now than for some time, due to the vast improvement of relations with Japan and the conclusion of a non-aggression pact with Poland.

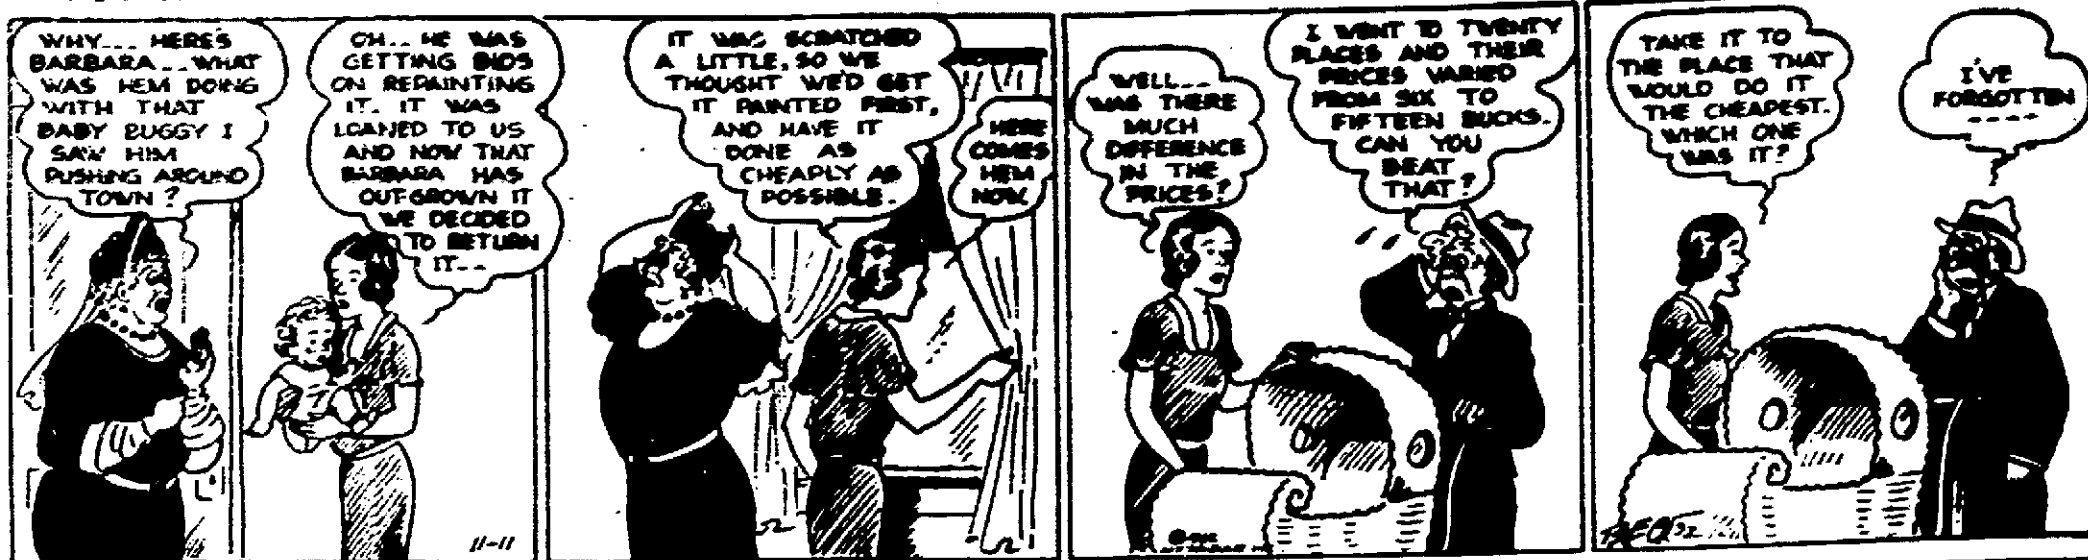

TWO WARS RAISE BRAZIL TO RATING AS AIR POWER.

Rio De Janeiro (A.P.).—Revolution in Brazil in 1930 and civil war in 1932 have made this country an aid power.

Army circles estimate that effective army and navy planes increased by eighty in the civil war.

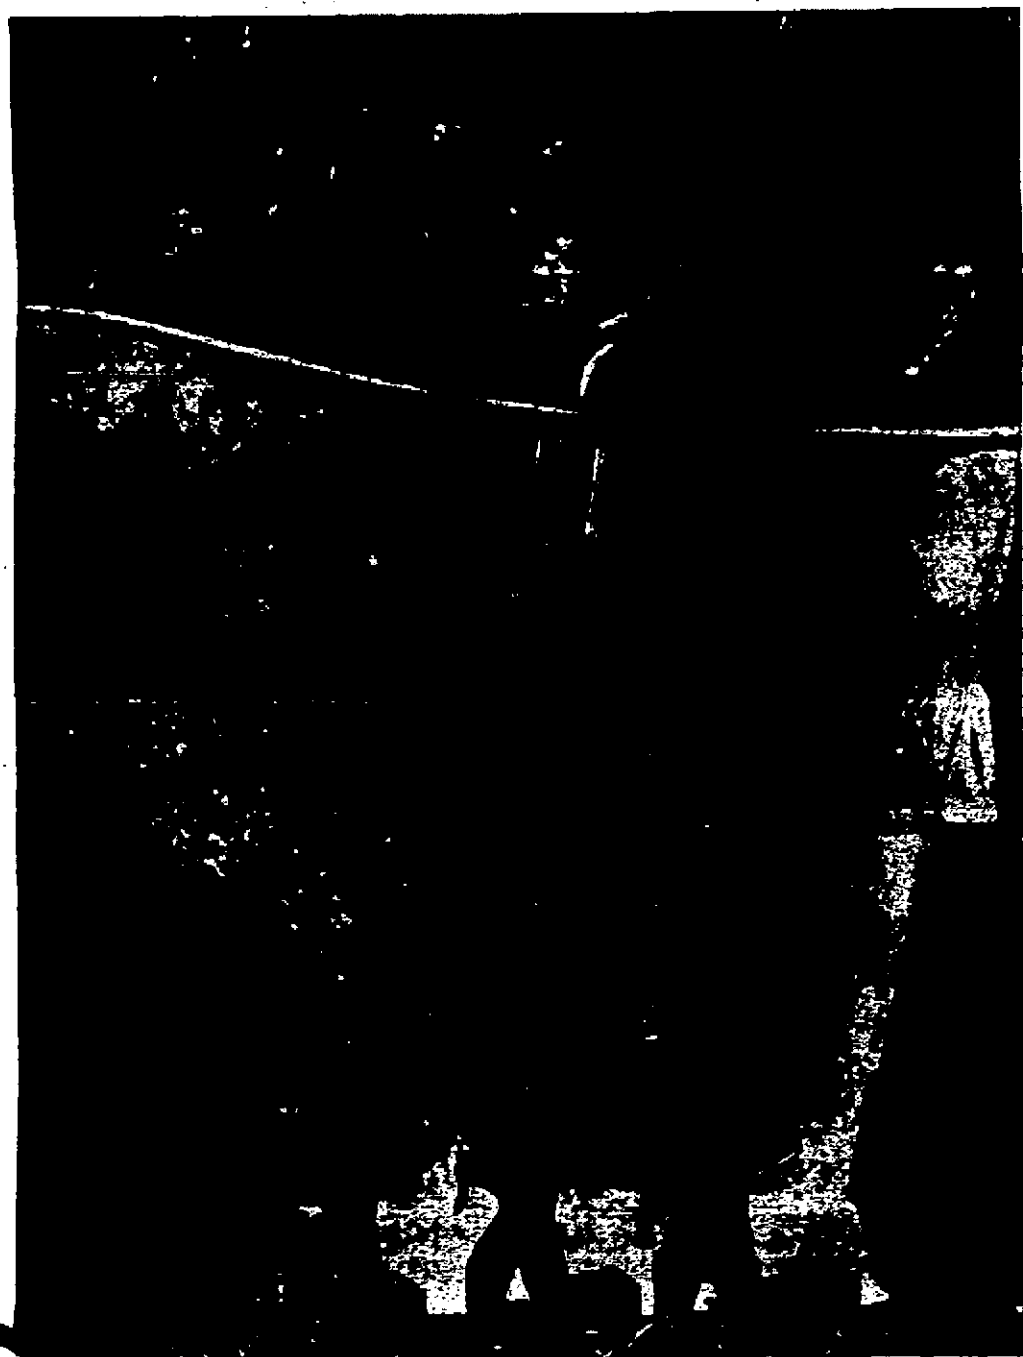

In the latest conflict, the government purchased 40 airplanes in England, 20 in the United States, and acquired 20 rebel planes when the war ended.

Working Out Their Pledges to the Church

DUE to hard times, many members of the Washington Street Baptist church of Orange, N. J., were unable to make good on their pledges to a fund for the erection of a new parish hall. But more than sixty of them offered to work out the pledges in manual labor, and some of this group are here seen hard at it. In the background with the plans is the pastor, Rev. Marple Lewis.

$4000. in Orders from this Telephone Selling Plan

It often happens that the simplest ideas prove most effective and economical in getting business and building goodwill. Telephone selling is one.

A coal company made 34 Long Distance calls and secured over $4,000 worth of orders at a cost of $22. A towel manufacturer sold 30,000 dozen wash cloths for $15,000 in only 6 minutes at a telephone cost of $6.50. A metal products manufacturer had an out-of-town customer whom he felt he was losing. By telephone, goodwill was re-established, and a $9,000 order taken at a cost of $1.75.

Perhaps a plan of selling by telephone—built to fit the needs of your business—will mean more sales at lower selling cost for you. Why not investigate? Just ask for the Business Office and a representative will call at your convenience. There's no obligation.

Mystery Of Fires May Be Solved

The mystery surrounding the numerous fires that have plagued Kingston this year, the most recent being that which destroyed a large portion of the old Davis Hotel early Sunday morning, may be solved.

Charles Keyes, 37, a native of Sweden, who has been under suspicion since the Davis Hotel fire, was arrested at his home in Kingston Thursday and brought to the court house for questioning. Later, before County Judge Frederick G. Traver, sitting as a committing magistrate, Keyes was committed to the Ulster county jail to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of arson.

Suspicion was first directed against Keyes when it was reported that he had been seen in Kerhonkson at the time of the fire Sunday morning.

His arrest Thursday followed activity since that time on the part of representatives of the district attorney's office, the state troopers and the police.

It was stated that Keyes has confessed to his responsibility for the Davis fire and also some of the other fires in Kerhonkson since the first of January.

Flood Waters in Rondout Creek Have Subsidied

Late Thursday Afternoon Flood Waters on the Strand and Ferry Street Receded, Leaving to Residents and Business Men the Problem of How to Aid Victims of Water.

Flood conditions that prevailed in the Rondout creek early Thursday morning, inundating sections of the Strand and Ferry street, trying up ferry service and bus service until the flood waters had receded, were relieved late that afternoon as the high waters in the Rondout creek gradually dropped. The flood left in its wake flooded cellars along Ferry street and the Strand, and business men had forces of men at work pumping the water out.

Today, while the water was high in the Rondout creek, it did not overflow the docks as on Thursday. Bus service to Poughkeepsie was resumed over the Strand late Thursday afternoon, after the water had gone down. Ferry service was also resumed as soon as the water lowered so that motor vehicles could get on and off the ferry. While the ferry was tied up the tug Rob, of the Cornell Line, took care of the foot passengers, conveying them back and forth across the Hudson river.

Other Streams Flooded Roads.
The heavy rainfall of Wednesday night not only caused flood conditions in the Rondout creek, but in all of the smaller streams in Ulster county, and practically all day Thursday roads that ran close by streams and brooks were under water in places. Auto drivers who drove over some of the roads found that the roads were under water, in some places, to a depth of two feet. Brooks that normally could not be heard purring over the stones in their beds, were raging torrents during the day. As one drove along the road near what was on Wednesday a peacefully flowing brook, he could hear the running water in the brooks as it raced along in raging torrents for some distance away.

SENKING SENSATION REVEALS DEPRESSION
One of the men busy cleaning up the lawn at the court house this morning felt the ground suddenly sink under his feet and he sank down several feet. A distinct depression for several feet about the spot would indicate that in years back a cesspool was probably located at this point, or that with the lapse of years and the continued effect of heavy rains there has been a settling of material used to fill a cellar that ran under the building that formerly occupied the lot.

Agents Seized Truck.
Investigators from the Kingston prohibition office seized a Dodge truck loaded with alleged beer on the Newburgh-Bacon ferry Thursday. Joseph Brune was arrested and arraigned before Commissioner Platt in Poughkeepsie, who held him in $1,000 bail for a hearing later.

Bagpipes Are Placed on Free List in Canada

Ottawa, Ont.—A great lead was taken from Scotch Canadians when the new tariff schedule on importations of British goods went into effect. Bagpipes, real ones from Canada's finest, were placed on the free list. Heretofore they had been taxed 15 per cent. Not only that, but in order to insure Canadian pipes that their strathpey and reeds need hereafter be played only on pipes of genuine Scotch manufacture, tariff fees on other kinds were increased to as high as 25 per cent.

Omaha Youth Still Is Dead to War Department

Omaha.—In August, 1918, Mrs. Adeline Clinesfelter, then of Coldwater Mich., received notice that her two sons, Robert O. and Clyde C., had been killed in action during a drive on the Germans. But Clyde was not killed and the War department never has retracted its death notice. He was captured. When he returned home, his mother presented him with his death certificate. Now each year he looks over his "death notice."

Stage Comedy and Tragedy
Drama is a composition in prose or in poetry, usually intended to be acted upon the stage, presenting a story by means of characters speaking and acting in situations contrived to develop a plot, with such accessories as scenery, etc. Tragedy is that form of drama or of dramatic composition in which the theme is solemn, lofty or pathetic, being a great action or series of acts. Comedy is that branch of dramatic art that portrays laughable incidents or characters, or the ludicrous, the satirical or the gay, in a familiar or humorous style. It is opposed to tragedy, or ceremonial drama.

A Labor Member's Mother
My mother never fondled or kissed any of us that I remember, for she clearly regarded these things as weakness. She had her rigid code of conduct, which she enforced on herself and others: Fight your battles and no whining, tell the truth, and so conduct yourself that you need never be ashamed. Let anyone else dare hurt us, man or woman, and there was trouble. No neighbor who crossed her once ever repeated the mistake. From "A Man's Life," by Jack Lawson, Labor Member of Parliament.

The Bridge

By RAYMOND OTIS

"I THINK a high bridge on this line—a very high bridge—that we cross at night."

She was a pretty woman, about thirty. It was surprising that she should speak to me; she didn't look like the opposite kind. But she had spoken and I knew her heart, so I stood up in the aisle of the platform.

"A bridge?" I said. "There must be many of them between here and the coast, especially where we cross the mountains."

"Well, this must be an unusual bridge—out over a river—a great span over an abyss. And deep—deeper than anything."

"I don't know of any."

"Are you going through this time, all the way?"

"Yes, I am.—What about the bridge? Why don't you tell me?"

"I'll tell you," she said. "Last night I had a dream. I dreamt that this train came to a great bridge. And the bridge was broken. The train ran into the gap, and . . ."

She paused to shudder. . . . "plunged a thousand feet to the rocks below."

"Well," I said, "that was a dream. Anybody killed?"

"Everybody. My dream was prophetic."

I shifted uneasily.

"What do you mean by prophetic, exactly?"

"Well—I don't know. I saw the things so clearly—every detail as if a great searchlight were playing on the scene. If there is such a bridge I wouldn't go over it for a fortune."

"If you'll excuse me, I'll go back for a smoke," I said. She simply nodded and I went to the smoking room. To save my life I couldn't get the picture of a train running off a bridge out of my mind. Then I spotted a time-table on the window-sill. I turned a page and there was a space exactly as she had described. I read the legend under the picture. "One of the highest railroad bridges in the world," it said, "on the main line to California, Canyon Flers."

I looked up on the map, which was also in the folder. The town nearest the bridge and then searched the time-table for the hour at which we were due at that town. Eight the next evening. So we did go over the bridge at night. Of course, all the time I was telling myself not to be a fool. I slipped the folder into my pocket and went back into the car.

"Pardon me," I said to the conductor, "but I've looked up your bridge . . ."

and at that I handed her the folder, opened to the picture. And I watched her face minutely.

"My God," she said in a throaty voice. "It's the bridge—it's the very bridge!" When do we cross it?"

"Tomorrow night, between eight and nine."

"I'm going to get off this train," she said, starting to rise.

"Not now," I objected. "We don't get there until tomorrow night."

She settled back in the seat. Her hands twitched nervously. She declared that unless the conductor would consent to stop the train at the bridgehead, she would get off at the first station before it.

By morning, a strange thing had happened. The whole train was talking about the Canyon Flers bridge.

Nobody, I thought, had yet consulted the conductor about stopping the train at the bridgehead, so I scrooped him myself when he came through the car. Had he heard about the dream?

"Yes, I've heard about it. We don't make a custom of stopping these trains because of dreams. But I wired ahead and got a notification to proceed. There's nothing wrong with the bridge."

Nothing could be more convincing than that. But the woman, who had overheard the talk, suddenly flew out of her seat and came up to me.

"Don't you see what it is?" she said. "Of course they're not going to break the bridge until it's too late for telegrams. It may be a plot. Sabotage."

"Very well, madam. I'll stop the train."

"Thank you," she said, and turned away.

At eight o'clock we came to the last town before Canyon Flers.

"No reports on the bridge," said the conductor and we started on.

The woman woman snatched the corner of her handkerchief. All through the train there was a remarkable atmosphere of tension. The train slowed down, came to an effortless stop—sudden. I got out and walked toward the engine. I thought I saw the woman ahead of me. There was a cluster of people around the engine.

When I reached the coal tender I noticed that everybody had suddenly stood up along the wheels and I heard a voice crying crisp commands. It was on the mountain side of the train and the visibility was good. I felt a jab in the ribs.

"Get a move on," somebody said in my ear. "Line up with the rest." It was the woman woman, with a revolver.

They manacled the baggage cars and relieved the passengers of their money. Their last act before departing in automobiles waiting with their motors running was to rob them of us who had got out and stood with the crew. Then they hurried to back on the train. I saw in the moonlight as the door slammed an oval face framed in black hair. She blew me a kiss as the train pulled away.

Memorial

In loving remembrance of my dear mother, Mrs. Mary F. Overt, who passed away 22 years ago today, November 10, 1910.

Our mother breathed her last farewell.

The loss is more than we can tell.

Earth seems quite another place

Without the smile of her dear face.

We think of her as one who sleeps,

All free from care and pain.

And know the day will surely come,

When we shall meet again.

(Signed) Son and Wife,
MR. AND MRS.
GEORGE OVERT, SR.

In Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of my dear husband, Norman H. Ryan, who departed this life two years ago today, November 11, 1930.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance.

Just a memory fond and true.

Just a token of affection,

And a heartache dear, for you.

(Signed)
WIFE, MRS. FLOESSIE R. RYAN

ELECTION RESULTS IN OLIVE DISTRICT NO. 2

West Shokan, Nov. 11.—The great election is over but the dripping wet celebration on the part of the weather man continues along in the wake of the smashing Democratic victory. At the local polls the great occasion passed without undue excitement. The vote was comparatively heavy with 123 voters polled out of a possible 480 names registered, a percentage of 67 per cent of the total. Doubtless the gloomy weather had its effect on many voters remaining at home. On occasions of state elections in the so-called of years the local vote in Olive District No. 2 has dropped to a minimum of 236 or thereabouts. In the hectic presidential election of 1928 the vote ran well above 400 here, providing the correspondent's recollection is not in error. This year there was not a decidedly well functioning activity on the part of the Democratic workers who were on the job right up until the proverbial last cat was hung.

Following is the trend of the Olive vote in respect to District No. 2: For president, Roosevelt carried the poll by a majority of 45, Lehman over Donovan for governor by 35, Bray for lieutenant governor by 35 over Davidson, Tremaine over Owen for state comptroller by 44, Bennett over Hubbard for attorney general by 41. Cuthbert H. Pound for chief judge of the Court of Appeals, endorsed by both major parties, received a total of 163 votes. Wagner for United States senator received 47 majority over Medalle. For representatives in Congress at large the vote was as follows: Studley, Democrat, 162, Fitzgibbons, Democrat, 127, Pinto, Republican, 110, Lowell, Republican, 111. The remaining list received just a scatter of votes. For justice of Supreme Court, Schenck received a majority of 49 over Hinman, Republican. For representative in Congress, Miller's majority over Goodwin was an even 50. Myers, the Socialist candidate, received 3 votes. The greatest majority given any candidate was William R. Kraft for member of Assembly who received 89 more votes than Mr. Conway. The largest vote given any candidate was the triple endorsed surrogate George W. Kaufman, who received 384. The vote for sheriff gave Spauls 26 majority over Saxe. Mr. Saxe barely carried the town of Olive which came as an expressed surprise to many. For commissioner of public welfare, McBride overran Sears by 45. Howard B. Humiston for copier was the lone Republican to carry District 2, which he did by 54 majority over Herman I. DuBois. The various Socialist candidates received from 3 to 4 votes. Blanks and voids were voted in customary proportion.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—In the most active trading in nearly a month, the post-election bull movement in the stock market rolled forward today.

Prices pushed up 1 to more than 4 points in the earlier hours of trading, sharply extending the gains of the previous session. As in yesterday's session, however, the market had a spell of hesitancy around midday, in which extreme advances were pared down by fractions, or in some cases as much as a point.

Rails were again in the lead, with advances of around 4 points in Union Pacific and Norfolk and Western. Issues up 2 or more included American Telephone, Case, Santa Fe, U. S. Steel preferred, Bethlehem preferred. Radio preferred B, and others.

The principal influence which lent an encouraging background to sentiment concerning the rally continued to come from the prospect of a report, early next year, from the non-partisan Coolidge commission.

The weekly mercantile reviews were moderately encouraging. Bradstreet's reported that "the volume of production and distribution has held up well in spite of the retarding influence of the election" and Dun's found that "the steadiness of retail business is an indication of strength, and a broadening of the seasonal revival doubtless will be manifest right up to the close of the year."

The oil shares derived some help from the information that the Texas House and Senate had passed the new Oil Conservation Law.

The British foreign trade figures furnished some faint indication of a possible expansion of international commerce. Imports into the United Kingdom were $6,328,000 pounds sterling against $4,266,000 in September. Exports were $6,440,000 pounds against $4,228,000.

U. S. Steel, American Can, International Harvester and Standard of N. J. were among issues rising a point or more. Radio Common was turned over in large volume, moving up about a point. The market calculated to benefit by legalization of beer, however, turned heavy. Losses of 1 to 2 appeared in Crown Cork, Owens Illinois Glass, and Liquid Carbonic.

The principal influence which lent an encouraging background to sentiment concerning the rally continued to come from the prospect of a report, early next year, from the non-partisan Coolidge commission.

Italy Records All Mares.

Rome (AP)—The war department requires birth and death certificates for all horses in Italy, thus keeping track of every equine for use in event of war. Failure to register horses brings penalties almost as severe as in the case of lack of record on human beings.

News from the World on Wheels

The rumor will always be a best institution at this season of the year, continues to grind out news and hearsay about what Dodge is going to bring forth in the way of a new car. One thing is cheerfully admitted at headquarters—there is going to be a new Dodge. But whether it will be an Eight, a Six, or the Four with which, according to varying information, the company may enter the low-price car market, is something nobody has so far been able to work out of close-mouthed engineers and sales officials.

With cold weather only days away, F. J. Holman, district manager of the Standard Oil Company of New York, Inc., sounds a warning to motorists that it is time to stop for them to "winter-proof" their cars and put them in shape for winter driving conditions. Mr. Holman said: "Today more people than ever keep their cars in use in winter, and there are several important items which should be cared for to insure the car's being in condition for winter driving. Probably the most vital is the motor. It demands more than ever in winter a quick-starting. To insure quick-starting he should see to it that his spark plugs, battery and ignition system are in good shape. Because with these right, he can get best results from a real quick-starting gasoline. Another important factor in rapid starting is the right grade of motor oil. Nearly everyone realizes that a crankcase change from the heavier oil used during the summer months to a lighter grade of good quality motor oil is essential at this time of year. Just as the motor requires a lighter grade of oil, so too the gears should be lubricated with winter grade of gear lubricant. Proper gear lubricants make easy shifting and instant free wheeling in the winter months. A car really should have a complete lubrication before winter sets in to make sure that every vital point is properly lubricated to withstand the season's use. Recently motorists have found they get better results in winter by adding to their gasoline an upper cylinder lubricant. This helps lubricate the parts of the engine difficult for a motor oil to reach. Furthermore such an oil tends to prevent sticky valves as well as reduce wear and even noise. Radiators, too, demand particular attention, he pointed out. First, before putting in an anti-freeze solution, it is generally considered worth while to remove the rust and scale which usually collect in cooling systems after any prolonged period of running.

Great Whale Caught

The largest whale ever caught was killed off Discovery Inlet, near the Bay of Whales, was 125 feet long and yielded 175 barrels of oil, valued at about $2,000.

Piles Go Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Thousands who have itching, bleeding or protruding piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause. Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. F. Leonard, after years of study, found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with success in over 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.

HEM-ROID tablets have such a wonderful record of success in this city that McBride Drug Store and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID, and guarantee money refunded if it does not end your Pile misery.

TABASCO.

Tabasco, Nov. 11.—An error occurred in the Tabasco items on November 4. It was stated that Louis Rothberg is employed on the Tachuk's Farm. It is the Jewett's farm where he is now working.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hinkley and infant son were guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Ada Wynkoop.

It is reported that residents of the section must submit to having their land worked without permission with signs bearing foolish statements. It might be well if the guilty parties would refrain from their idle pranks, which are much to the annoyance of the people concerned.

The work on the local road is nearly completed. Practically all the trucks and men have been laid off, except those who are engaged in moving machinery.

Jack Rothberg was a caller at the local school on Wednesday.

Lester Wynkoop has been assisting David Burger and family in moving into the Ben Schoonmaker tenant house.

Frank Heiser of this place had the misfortune to lose his hound one day last week, while fox hunting.

Neal Hornbeck of Lehighville was a caller in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Decker on Wednesday evening.

Colds seem to be a local epidemic. It being necessary for some people to be confined to their beds.

Clara Margaret Young, who has been spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hinkley at Pine Hill, has returned to her home here for a few days.

The local students of the Tabasco school had perfect lessons during the past week in spelling. These marks show splendid cooperation between teacher and pupils.

The following pupils have had perfect attendance during the past week: James Wynkoop, Junior Decker, Winston Van Kleeck, Clarence Heiser, Leonard Heiser, Ethel Heiser, Calvin Embree.

Regular quarterly tests will be conducted at the local school on next Thursday and Friday.

Jack Rothberg leaves this Saturday for New York city, where he plans to spend a few days.

The local school will close on Wednesday, November 23, for its annual Thanksgiving vacation. The teacher, Eugene Davies, will spend his vacation at his home in Oswego. It will reopen on November 28.

They Shave Test Too Skill.
Berlin (AP)—The diet of the smallest inmates of the Berlin zoo, kolibri birds from Brazil about the size of a man's thumb, taxed the ingenuity of the management until a small test tube was fitted with a long spout permitting the birds to dip their long bills into honey.

Science Finds Use for "Pests" Long Problem

"If you keep a thing long enough you'll find a use for it," one of the wisest men used to say.

Well, the locust has been "kept" for a very long number of centuries, and a use has been found for him at last. It has been discovered that an oil can be obtained from remains which is useful for many purposes.

This is not the first time that the abilities of usefulness have been found in "pests." Australia's prickly pear, for example, which was swallowed up large areas of valuable land, can be made to yield power and fuel.

But it does not necessarily follow that you have solved the problem of dealing with a pest when you have discovered a use for it. The product may be obtained more cheaply in some other way, or the market may not be capable of absorbing the supplies.—London Answers.

Tokyo Jumps to Third Among Greatest Cities

New York.—As the result of new statistics announced from New York city and from Tokyo, Japan, the official and unofficial standings in the population lists of the world's greatest cities have undergone considerable changes.

New York's unofficial metropolitan population reached the huge figure of 12,000,000, while Tokyo came up from an inconspicuous point to third place by announcing its population as 12,122,000, jumping ahead of Berlin, Chicago, Paris, and Moscow.

Officially New York is still second to London, with a population of 8,000,000 in its five boroughs while London has 8,500,000.

Tokyo, which had counted its population as 2,000,000 and its area as 51 square miles, has counted 32 villages and towns and increased its square mileage to 235 and its population to more than 10,000,000. The official standing now places London first, New York city second, Tokyo third, Berlin fourth, Chicago fifth, Paris sixth, and Moscow seventh.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gault
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The post-Rockne defeat of Notre Dame football was not in during the early period of the game with Northern California at South Bend.

It was no sudden that it took the football world a little while to realize the fact that Army capped the season the following week by routing all over the Irish at the Yankee stadium for a two touchdowns victory. Just why there should have been tendency this year to "throw these boys out", as the boys say, and again at the planter of inactivity upon the Notre Dame gridiron product, is about new to football.

We did not, of course, ignore the fact that the Irish had been so badly and so early in the current campaign, but it was nevertheless a noteworthy contribution and perhaps all for the fact that Notre Dame and for football a general.

The decline since Rockne died, in the fortunes of Notre Dame, is not only definite but natural. Whether or not the decline is only temporary is another matter. No system, however, founded so much upon the personality and genius of one individual, pulling all the intricate strings of the puppet show, could continue to operate with consistent effectiveness without the master's touch.

With sweeping colors, moreover, Rockne painted his last two football seasons vividly. The 1929-30 Notre Dame team were the nearest thing to perfection, in gridiron skill and power, that we have ever seen. It was not an exaggeration, even now, to say that the 1930 combination which ran roughshod over Pennsylvania, 69 to 10, and trampled Southern California, 27 to 0, was as near unbeatable as any aggregation in modern football history.

Had Rockne himself lived, a natural let-down from such heights could have been expected. "Rock" did me in the winter, a few weeks before his tragic death, that he expected to lose "one or two" games in the fall of 1931, that it would be good thing for the "boys" to get a taste of invincibility out of their side.

The devil, therefore, should not be blamed for the "blame" its equivalent upon the rugged shoulders of "Hunk" Anderson, regardless of what his virtues or shortcomings may be as a football coach. It is almost to sign a football coach in the spot that Anderson, all his years, the winning habit became so strongly associated with the football team at South Bend.

is the Outlook

Like most everything else, football games are cycles. Of course there are certain definite factors entering into the production of winning teams, such as the fundamentals of coaching and material. Even the best teams strike slumps.

It just so happened that Notre Dame, under Rockne, kept the average so high that a dip in the results was bound to come. The general opinion, they immediately view with alarm.

It would seem about time to change the subject and worry over when someone is going to lose another football game.

Mixing Mat With Grid

—By Pap

PETE MLHRINGER
of the UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS

—ONE OF THE OUTSTANDING LINEMEN IN THE "BIG SIX"

PUNTS
and PASSES

(By The Associated Press.)

Detroit—Earl McCracken, Detroit's 140 pound back, is ready to assume Villanova and all other opposing players who haven't run up against him yet, that he is by no means fragile. He has played comparatively little but that is because he has a trick of putting a scoring punch into his plays and Coach Gus

Doerflinger prefers to send him in fresh

when there is a chance for a touchdown.

New York—Cliff Montgomery has been named to start for Columbia against the undefeated Brown team

but most of his work will be confined to passing because of his injured ankle. He tried that for a few minutes against Navy and brought some big gains.

Notre Dame, Ind.—"Hunk" Anderson, Notre Dame coach, predicts that tomorrow's battle between the "Irish" and Northwestern will be a toss-up. Long runs or successful passes by the backs of either team will probably break up the game, he says.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Vic Hanson,

coach of the Syracuse team, is highly optimistic about tomorrow's struggle with Colgate. The Orange not only will be the first team to score against the "Red Raiders," he says, but it has a good chance to be the first to defeat Colgate.

Columbia, O.—Ohio State is well settled with the team that beat

Northwestern last week but the coaches are rather afraid of over-

confidence when their men face

Pennsylvania. The only change in the lineup that is planned sends Max

Padon in an end.

Hanover, N. H.—The tackling

dummy is a thing of memory for the Dartmouth squad. The Green Warriors staged the traditional ceremony of burning the dummy yesterday as they finished their final practice of the season before the Cornell game.

Providence, R. I.—Brown's sturdy football team not only boasts three sets of brothers but five of the six men are members of the first team.

Captain Bill Gilman and his brother

Tom, Roland and Larry Brown and

Dave Allen are regulars. John Allen, a halfback like Dave, is on the second team.

Outlook On Major
Football Contests

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—Prognosticians will need to ponder well this week's slate of eastern football contests if they wish to avoid embarrassment.

There are plenty of "naturals" on the card that seem just as likely to go

one way as the other, depending upon which direction the "breaks" so.

Nevertheless, here's what the "dope" indicates in the leading games:

Brown-Columbia—Two well-matched teams which have marched along undefeated and untied so far.

Brown may start a slight favorite but one vote is hereby cast for Columbia

if Cliff Montgomery is in shape to play all, or most of the game for Columbia. He's the team's best runner, passer and kicker and if his injuries leave him handicapped, Columbia's chances look slim.

Syracuse-Colgate—Syracuse is determinately on the upgrade but the Orange does not seem to have much chance against the "Red Raiders," undefeated, untied and unscored on.

Cornell-Dartmouth—These rivals

have put on many a thrilling, high-scoring battle and their meeting Saturday looks like a toss-up. Neither has shown a scoring punch yet and Cornell's superior defense may give the Ithacans a slight edge.

Princeton-Yale—Only the shortest of Princeton memories fails to recall last year's 51-14 rout at Yale's hands. Despite Yale's improvement,

as manifest in the Dartmouth game,

the Tigers look like winners.

Harvard-Holy Cross—The suspension of Captain McEwan, head coach, will do Holy Cross no good but the Crusaders still look like a better team than anything Harvard has put on the gridiron in the last three weeks.

Pitt-Nebraska—The Cornhuskers

are hoping to avenge the 40-0 beating they took from Pitt last year but it doesn't look like much more than a hope.

Ohio State-Penn—On the face of it,

this looks like one of the evenest

games on the program with the edge,

if any, belonging to Ohio State if the Buckeyes' play approximates the high standard of last week.

Army-North Dakota State—The

midwesterners are a strong small-college eleven but they do not rate within a couple of country miles of Army's class.

Navy-Maryland—Navy is coming along slowly but surely and this may be the spot for the Tar's first major victory.

Temple-Penn State—After two successive ties, Temple's unbeaten team looks for a victory here.

West Virginia-Washington and Lee

—Despite W. and L.'s surprise victory over Virginia last week, West

Virginia seems a distinct choice.

Villanova-Detroit—Two well-matched teams with Villanova's greater punch perhaps the decisive factor.

Fordham-New York University—

Fordham's recognized outfit looks better than N. Y. U., whose line play has been weak all season.

Georgetown-West Virginia Wesleyan—Jack Hagerty expects to take this one in stride but it might be fatal to underestimate Wesleyan's strength. As a matter of fact, on comparative scores against West

Virginia University, Wesleyan is a touchdown better than Georgetown.

Washington & Jefferson-Bucknell

—This one should be close with

Bucknell the general choice.

Rutgers-Lehigh—Rutgers can,

and should, clinch the "Middle Three" title in this game.

Lafayette-St. John's—Lafayette

expects to find an opportunity to do some scoring against the Maryland

outfit.

Carnegie Tech-Xavier—A "breather" for Carnegie before next week's game with Pitt.

Amherst-Williams—Only Amherst

can be picked.

Boston College-Western Maryland

—A tight game in prospect with

Boston College apparently slightly stronger.

Waynesburg-Genoa—Wayne-

burg is undefeated and untied but

Genoa is the indicated choice.

George Washington-William

Mary—Two first rate small college

elevens with the result an apparent loss up.

Duquesne-South Dakota State—

Duquesne the choice.

Maroon to Meet
Riordan Saturday

The weather all over the valley, according to reports, has been a washout the past week. Every team in the DUSO League has been halted by the downpour. Port Jervis reports practices held in the gym; Newburgh says it drilled on a wet field; the Middletown were forced to take it easy by the weather and Kingston managed to get in a few good drills before the Raymond Riordan game Saturday afternoon on the Kingston Fair Grounds.

This will be Kingston's last easy battle, for next Saturday the squad from Poughkeepsie High, that has a remarkable record for the season thus far will lock horns with Kias' eleven on the local gridiron. This week will tune Kingston up for the Newburgh game the following Thursday. Thanksgiving Day afternoon, at Newburgh.

Newburgh and Port
This carries us into the classic of the afternoon. Newburgh Academy and Port Jervis High, the teams that are disputing who will win the DUSO crown—it lies between them—will launch their offenses and defenses for the grand test Saturday. Whoever wins this fracas will undoubtedly be crowned the 1932 football champ of the DUSO circuit.

Both schools have unusual teams—far above average; and both teams have splendid records far above average. Now between the two, as to who is the superior will be settled Saturday. The eyes of all the schools will be turned on this contest.

Port the Favorite
Reports say that Port Jervis is the favorite. The Middletown sports writer picks Port Jervis and that's unusual for Middletown is Port's greatest rival. This is the opinion of many who have seen Port and Middletown play earlier games, that Port is the stronger team. All around the Chasemen have a better eleven. Their running, passing and defense have proven more efficient than the Stevensmen.

Middletown vs. N. Y. M. A.
Middletown meets the Cadets at Cortwall Saturday.

Lineups For Game
At Michie Stadium

West Point, Nov. 11—Heavy rains have seriously hampered preparations of both North Dakota and West Point for the game here Saturday. Army has had little hard work since the Harvard game. Major Sasse realizes that his squad reached the peak last Saturday and that the let-down is apt to bring disastrous results with opponents such as the "Bisons."

With the exception of Ed Herb and "Dick" King, the Army squad is in perfect physical condition. Major Sasse stated that the first team would be used and Fields, Vidal and Buckler would all be in action.

Lineup for both teams is:
Pos. Army North Dakota
L. E. Lawler Meyer
L. T. Lincoln Peschel
L. G. Summerfelt (Capt.) John
C. Evans R. T.
R. C. Jablonsky Ornes
R. T. Armstrong Platt
R. E. Kopsack Jackson

DON'T TRIFLE WITH COMMON CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's All-Bran Brings Relief

Constipation gets its grip on a person almost unawares. It often starts with such little things. Headaches. Listlessness. Bad complexion. Unpleasant breath. If unchecked, it may seriously impair your health.

Fortunately, you can avoid this danger by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's All-Bran provides two things needed to overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. All-Bran is also a rich source of iron for the blood.

Biological tests demonstrate that the "bulk" in bran is similar to that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than taking unpleasant potent medicines. Two tablespoonsful of All-Bran daily are usually sufficient. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's Cereal Co.

Crope and Satin

This wrap for cold days is a crepe-satin combination that buttons up around the throat and features the new cape collar. It is of a light-grey shade, with satin buttons and triangular inserts on cape and skirt.

The goldenrod cape she hasn't yet had whether to take her vacation to the country or in the mountains. It's a real make-up for cold which is just what you need.

With or Without Fur—As You Like

New York—Fur is a cheery color at this season. It is smartest with brown or black, but if you are one of those who are speculating about gray why not spice it up with red or paprika if gray is not inclined to be kind to your skin? Grays are marching forward, there's little doubt of that. More is making a comeback. It is used for sleeves and for body sections rather more than as a trimming fur.

The logical move is to use fur instead of long ones for such purposes, as long ones cannot be expected to serve. Fur sleeves are ever so chic. So, too, are coats and dresses, the bodies of which are partly of fur.

Then there are those adorable little fur berets and other fur hats, some of them with spear-like quills at the side or back. And there are those grown-up snuffs, not just the round little-girl kind. So, with fur jackets, capes and coats, and fur pocketless gowns, we stand in little danger of feeling the cold. Contradictory as it seems, it's also quite smart to go fur-free.

Capelets are the real interest. Coachman's capes of Persian lamb top many a warm-toned woolen frock or many a plain, slightly fitted coat. Fur capes for evening are another happy thought. So, too, is the swifter coat type, either of fur or fabric.

One of the trickiest ways of wearing the fur capelet is to turn it around like a clerical collar and button it behind. Lots of the smart folk are doing this. Fur capelets sometimes have tight little collars—a high fur band fastening with a fur button—or they have the storm collar which used to be so fashionable. These seem to be two distinct schools, one affecting small unobtrusive collars and the other, great luxurious ones. Nor is the choice regulated by one's pocketbook.

FLAT FUR AGAIN

What Girls Wear to the Game

Fur trimmings on dresses, used in bow effects, in shoulder yokes, as the ends of cloth jabot ties, and as borders on shallow capes, are noted at football events. Occasional short fur capes complete one-piece woolen frocks.

The Harris tweeds again prove favorites, both in the fur-trimmed and unfur-trimmed developments. These favor the brown, black and white, and black and gray mixtures. In millinery, there is a strong impression of matching colors in frocks and hats, and quite frequently a relation in fabrics also. The little beret, like type, tipped toward the right eye, is the choice of many, followed by variations of the brimmed sailor.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Scarfs and capes are sometimes bordered with swinging fringe, and this fringe idea is also reflected intactly at the waistline.

A quaint air is suggested in a brown thin lace costume, the shoulder cape flanked at the neckline with a tiny velvet ribbon collar.

"EYES" FROM THE AIR HALT RAIDS ON CATTLE

Perth, Australia (AP)—Ranchers in northern Australia are using airplanes with huge eyes painted under the wings to frighten away tribesmen who spear cattle in preference to native game.

Recently air force machines, which have a bull's eye marker, toured the cattle country and the blacks, thinking these were eyes watching them, discontinued their cattle thefts.

So the ranchers are sending up "eyed" planes of their own.

Dismiss Action
Against Brickyards

sections drawn to state. These sections were placed upon the map without reference to property lines or buildings and without survey of any kind. It is shown that the defendants' properties, purchased from the Newark Lime & Cement Company, were wholly within a residential district under this ordinance.

In the year 1925 a new ordinance was enacted which superseded the prior one. The districts were changed somewhat, and various matters by way of enforcement were provided for, but the general scheme remained the same. A new map was adopted, prepared in connection with ward maps of the city upon which property lines were indicated and buildings located. While the industrial districts were changed somewhat, the properties involved in this action still remain within a residential district. The plaintiffs bring this action upon the theory that their property is being injured or subject to threat of being injured by a violation of both zoning ordinances, and hence that they have an interest sufficient to maintain this action. This position is sound. It is obvious that further excavations within the prohibited area will diminish to some extent the value of the plaintiffs' property. Under such circumstances their interest is sufficient to maintain an action.

The defendants deny that either ordinance in question is valid and in conformity with the statute, and set up, among others, these affirmative defenses: That the defendants' use is a non-conforming one which is not prohibited; and that both ordinances, in so far as they may apply to their properties, are so unreasonable and arbitrary as to be unconstitutional.

Authority for the enactment of zoning ordinances by cities is found in the General City Law (Section 20, Subdivision 25). That section provides that cities shall have the power "to regulate and restrict the location of trades and industries and the location of buildings, designed for specified uses, and for said purposes to divide the city into districts and to prescribe for each such district the trades and industries that shall be excluded or subjected to special regulation and the uses for which buildings may not be erected or altered. Such regulations shall be designed to promote the public health, safety and general welfare and shall be made with reasonable consideration among other things, to the character of the district, its peculiar suitability for particular uses, the conservation of property values and the direction of building development, in accord with a well considered plan."

The ordinance of 1925 is attacked upon the basis that it was not in accord with a well considered plan in that it did not describe the districts referred to therein as residential, business and manufacturing districts, and that the map accompanying the same did not reasonably locate such districts. The map was a part of the ordinance and furnished the only means by which the districts could be identified and their boundaries ascertained. The method used was to plot in upon comparatively small maps certain spaces in color to the scale of 800 feet to an inch, without regard whether the division lines cut through dwelling houses and other buildings, industrial establishments and other properties. Evidence as to the division of other properties by this method was objected to, but the evidence was properly admitted since such method affected the defendants' property in the same manner, the difference being only in degree. Clearly, such a method was haphazard, to say the least, and it may be well doubted whether it met the test required by statute.

As to these properties the plaintiffs urge that the same situation was presented in the case of the Village of Euclid v. Ambler Realty Co. (272 U. S. 365), and present such cases as an authority for the proposition that it is not unreasonable to divide a parcel into several diverse districts merely because that parcel happens to be owned by one individual. That statement as a general proposition is clearly logical, although the case cited did not pass specifically upon that question. The opinion clearly indicates that each case must be decided upon its own facts when any part of an ordinance is attacked as being unreasonable in its application to a particular property.

Whatever may be the rule as to vacant parcels of land not devoted to or immediately available for any particular use the premises involved here must be placed in a different category. They are located adjacent to industrial plants in actual operation and are patently valuable only for use in connection with the further operation of such plants. A method of division which separates these properties, and which, in its general application, separates properties of all kinds without regard to lines, buildings, or even uses, is not a reasonable regulation within the meaning of the statute.

Since the ordinance of 1925 was superseded by the ordinance of 1928, and this question is not raised as to the map adopted in 1928, this holding is only important on the question of a non-conforming use.

The ordinance of 1925 permits the continuance of a non-conforming use existing at the time of the passage of the ordinance. Section 3 of that ordinance provides in part as follows: "However, any non-conforming use existing at the time of the passage of this ordinance may be continued or changed to another non-conforming use which is not more harmful or objectionable in the opinion of the zoning board, herein after provided for, provided that the building or premises involved shall not be structurally altered for an-

Meet THE NEW PRESIDENT!

EDITOR'S NOTE: What type of man is Franklin D. Roosevelt, newly-elected President of the United States? What are his traits of character, his philosophies, his interests? Following is the first of six articles which answer those questions by revealing little incidents in the life of the new chief executive.

By WALTER T. BROWN

Associated Press Staff Writer Who Accompanied Roosevelt On His Campaign

Albany, N. Y. (AP)—There is a streak of determination in President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt that might be called stubbornness.

Early in the presidential campaign virtually all of his advisers tried to persuade him to make few trips and none of them long. He listened and went ahead studying time tables. In the face of circulated stories that candidates who made long trips seldom won, the governor continued to arrange schedules.

He eventually went on one of the longest trips any candidate ever took.

Discussing the efforts to dissuade him from making extended journeys, he said:

"They forget I am Dutch and stubborn, and besides I like to travel."

The same was true of the airplane journey to Chicago to accept the nomination. Mr. Roosevelt had had such a trip in mind for months. He saw that such a journey would get the campaign away to a running start; would give his candidacy a dramatic aspect at once and would counteract any comment regarding his physical condition.

The Roosevelt leaders at Chicago

larged, unless the use thereof is to be changed to a use permitted in the district.

It is contended that further excavations would not constitute a non-conforming use because such excavations would necessarily involve structural alterations of the premises. It is also contended that the ordinance contains no provisions authorizing the continuance of a non-conforming use of land. From the language used it is doubtful whether that part of the ordinance which deals with the continuance of a non-conforming use was ever intended to apply to the situation presented here. It would appear that the possibility of such a situation was completely overlooked. However that may be if the language used is taken at its face value, and nothing read into it by way of implication or otherwise, further excavations are within the prohibition as being structural changes. This conclusion is not at all helpful to the plaintiffs' cause, and if correct, it merely furnishes additional proof that the ordinance is unreasonable in failing to recognize the vested interest of the defendants.

The most important issue in the case, however, is raised by the assertion of the defendants that the premises in question, although zoned solely for residential purposes, are not reasonably suitable for such use. If this is true then such ordinance, insofar as this property is concerned, attempts that which is tantamount to confiscation and infringement upon the constitutional rights of the defendants, and is not made "with reasonable consideration, among other things, to the character of the district, its peculiar suitability for particular uses, the conservation of property values and the direction of building development, in accord with a well considered plan." The general principle of zoning has been repeatedly upheld as a valid exercise of police power, but it has also been held that the burden incident to the exercise of such power should be distributed equally as far as possible, and that where a plan or a part thereof is unreasonable and unnecessary to the general scheme or purpose as a whole, and approaches the point where an owner is deprived of any beneficial or profitable use of his property, the courts may afford relief (Eaton v. Sweeney, 257 N. Y. 176). The evidence as a whole indicates that such is the precise situation presented here.

The district, using that term in the broadest sense, in which the disputed premises are situated, has been a manufacturing district for at least over 50 years. Whatever residential development there has been immediately adjacent to this property has been almost completely in connection with the industries there established. The residential district to the south is not affected by an industrial use of the premises in question, nor is that part of the ordinance dealing with the property of the defendants necessary to preserve the character of such district. Moreover, these premises in question are close to and extend beyond the northerly boundary of the city of Kingston, and are the only premises outstanding in that direction which are adversely affected by the provisions of the zoning ordinance. This fact alone, of course, would not justify a conclusion that the city did not possess power to exclude therefrom industrial activities, but it may be considered in connection with the question of whether the premises are suitable for residential purposes and also whether the restrictions as to them are unreasonable and unnecessary to the preservation of the zoning scheme as a whole. Certainly, more restrictive considerations alone would not justify the restrictions imposed (Barney v. Village of Kensington, 257 N. Y. 221).

It is of course true that the judgment of the city's legislative body is not to be lightly disregarded or thrown aside, and if the matter is merely one of judgment exercised upon a debatable proposition, the court may not justly substitute its judgment for that of the legislative body.

made the wires hum trying to discourage the trip. Curtis Dall, his son-in-law, advised him the sentiment was against it.

When all efforts to halt him failed, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., one of his closest friends, succeeded in effecting a compromise. Mr. Roosevelt agreed to go to Chicago by train if he were nominated early enough in the afternoon to enable him to reach Chicago the next morning.

But, as his nomination came after the dinner hour and after the last fast train had left Albany, he had to fly to the convention city.

denied their peculiar and overwhelming suitability for that purpose. The Common Council apparently ignored these factors, and thus its action with relation to the restriction complained of appears unreasonable and arbitrary. Upon the basis of these considerations I draw the conclusion that such restriction was a violation of the constitutional rights of the defendants, and further that it was not made in accordance with the statute.

For the reasons herein set forth the defendants may have judgment dismissing the complaint with one bill of costs. Proposed findings may be submitted within ten days after the receipt of this memorandum.

From the Greek

The quotation on the New York city post office which begins "Neither snow nor rain nor heat" is taken from paragraph 98, Book VIII of the work of the Greek historian Herodotus, who wrote in the fifth century B. C. It reads: "Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."
